

INFR3120 Assignment-3 Project Plan

A web app for maintaining a list of contacts with associated phone number and email records.

The home page will have a link to the contact list page.

The contact list page will list the existing contacts and have a button to create a new contact.

Contacts will be displayed in a grid view with their names displayed prominently, including links to call or email the contact, and buttons for editing or deleting the contact.

All CRUD actions will be performed from the contact list page, using modals to prompt for form input for contact creation and modification, and for the contact deletion confirmation message.
